

Acknowledgements

This thesis would not have been possible without the generous support of my supervisor, Associate Professor Murray D Smith. I thank him for giving me the opportunity to pursue this interesting project which has taught me a great deal, and for his patient guidance and tireless support. In addition, I thank Honours Co-ordinator Dr Diane Dancer for her advice, and efforts to iron out problems throughout the year.

I would also like to thank members of the Discipline of Econometrics and Business Statistics at the University of Sydney, and seminar participants at the Econometric Society Australasian Meeting, Alice Springs, and the National Honours Colloquium, Sydney, for their comments. Most importantly, I thank my parents for their constant support over the years and especially this year.